THE GOVERNOR WILL BE INVITED TO ATTEND.

Representative C. F. Hood Leaves Today to Request His Presence at Opening of Centennial Celebration.

DIFFERENT PLANS DISCUSSED

At a Meeting of the Executive Committee Held in Council Chamber Wednesday Evening—Skeleton Program of Four Days Announced.

Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker will be asked to open the Centennial celebration on the morning of July 3. This was decided at a meeting of the different committees held in the Council Chamber Wednesday night. The meeting was presided over by Representative C. F. Hood, who said that he felt sure the Governor would consent to officially open the big show and announced that Representative C. F. Hood would leave today to confer with Mr. Pennypacker and request his attendance.

Another feature for the celebration which was practically decided is the training of a chorus of between 1,000 and 2,000 voices to sing National airs on the Library grounds at some early hour. This was suggested by one of the members of the committee and Mr. Rutledge of the Music Committee announced that his committee had already planned the chorus as a feature of their part of the work.

President Marietta has taken it upon himself to furnish the feature of the third day of the celebration. He stated Wednesday night that it was an automobile parade in which he promised to have at least 50 automobiles. These automobiles were to be used to carry the older residents of the town and former residents who were visiting the city to points of interest. The automobiles were to be used for the purpose throughout the entire day, besides entering the parade.

It was first planned to have the parade of the secret societies on July 5, July 4 being a civic parade, but Mr. Rutledge pointed out to the committee the impossibility of getting the men who are employed at coke plants to parade on July 5, as the plants would not close down two days, and a parade of secret societies on July 5 would fall flat. It was then decided to have the civic end of the parade on July 6 and the parade of organizations and bands on July 4.

A new committee appointed was the Electrical Committee. It is composed of P. J. Harrigan, E. T. Penrose, W. C. Shaw, W. E. Moore, J. S. Marietta, E. T. Norton and Nicholas Hoyer. An electrical display for the close of the Centennial celebration was talked of. Alonzo C. Collier suggested that if illumination could be had a sort of a regatta could be held upon the Youghiogheny. He said that a nice display could be gotten up in this way, and his suggestion was generally approved.

J. R. Baisley of the Memorial Committee said that the committee had found 240 names of men who were prominently identified with the town's early history and he believed as many more would be obtainable. He said that in looking about town the committee had found one place that ought to be suitably fixed up in memory of the dead, many of whom were our neighbors and builders of the town. He referred to the plot in Chestnut Hill Cemetery where the remains of those who died years ago were removed from the cemetery along South Pittsburgh street. He requested the sum of $200 for this purpose. Mr. Marietta suggested that the Memorial Committee does not overlook the fact that Colonel Crawford's old home in New Haven and Zachariah Connell's last resting place had also been marked at this important time.

Dr. J. C. McCleanathan and Attorney Porter S. Newmyer warmed up considerably over the authorization of $10,000 to get work of printing the history of town under way. The committee stated that its time was very limited and to get the work completed a time for the Centennial it would be obliged to rush things. Mr. Newmyer objected to the committee being empowered to make contracts for the expenditure of the $10,000, and asked that it be taken up by the Executive Committee and not at the general meeting. Several talked upon the importance of granting the historical committee's request without delay. The question reached a climax when Dr. McCleanathan arose and said: "This committee is going to know how pretty soon, whether it is going to write this book or not. We have already devoted a large amount of time for the task, and we don't propose to be held back by any one man's bickering methods."

He also said some other sharp things which brought Mr. Newmyer to his feet with the statement that he did not believe there was any one in the room endeavoring to belittle the work, but he stood for the business principle of it and still advocated the matter being taken up by the Executive Committee. A unanimous vote

SETTLED THE CASE.

Pennsylvania Man Was Meek When the Officers Called for Him.

Andrew Miller of Pennsylvania was sworn a hearing before Magistrate Frank Miller Wednesday evening upon an information made by George Miller charging him with assault and battery and making threats. Several weeks ago Miller gave Miller a fearful beating on West Main street. An information was made against him and he promised several times to appear for trial. Miller's father died several days ago and the hearing was postponed on this account. He promised to appear yesterday afternoon, but did not do so.

Constable Wilson heard that Miller threatened to take his life and in company with Constable Crossland went to Pennsylvania and arrested him. He was taken to the jail and held until Miller's father having died a few days ago and the family needing his support, Magistrate Miller had him released, but not before giving the defendant a scolding for his shirked duty.

QUIET NOW REIGNS AT SPRINGFIELD.

Mobs of Varying Strength Roamed the Little Ohio City All Wednesday Night and This Morning.

Springfield, Ohio, March 1.—(Special.)—The situation here this morning is quiet in hand by the authorities. The mob is in absolute control. Everything is quiet the actual damage done by the mob last night being much less than that of the previous night. But there was equally as much damage. Three houses were burned and a number of others looted. A half dozen mobs of varying strength and violence roamed the streets, doing damage in the most unexpected places.

A number of people were seriously hurt. One man is in the hospital, but is beyond serious danger. It is feared that his death will result from the mob to such a fearful degree that the troops will find it difficult to cope with the mob. The mob is in absolute control. ## KILLED NEAR OHIOPILE.

Unknown Foreigner Struck by Train No. 47 Wednesday Afternoon Has Not Been Identified.

The body of an unknown foreigner lies at Stius morgue awaiting identification. Train No. 47 Wednesday afternoon while speeding along at Youghiogheny, near Ohiopile, ran him down and instantly killed him. His neck was broken and he suffered from concussion of the brain. The train was stopped as quickly as possible after running the man down and his body was brought to town in the baggage car of the train. It was taken to J. E. Stius' morgue and the clothing stored.

In one of the pockets was found the address in Slavish of Miss Mary Heza, 2111 Frederick street, South Side, Pittsburgh. F. A. Kall, the banker, deciphered the address and a messenger immediately sent to Pittsburgh, but at noon today no reply had been received.

The man was apparently about 35 years old. On his arm was tattooed "J. E. Stius" and beneath it, "F. C. 1896." The impression is that the man received the mysterious marks while serving in the army in the Old Country.

PLAN TO CONSTRUCT NATURAL SNOW SHEDS.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Will Plant Trees Along Line Where Snow Drifts Most.

Officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company returned yesterday evening from Washington, D. C., where they were in conference with government officials in the Department of Forestry. For many years the railroad company has suffered a great deal on account of snow drifts blocking the tracks on certain divisions of the system. The government officials suggested that the company plant trees at the places where the snow drifts are most common. The plan is to plant a line of trees along the railroad tracks where the snow drifts are most common. ## CATCHY AND CLEVER WESTERN MUSICAL COMEDY AT THE COLONIAL THEATRE.

Tonight "The Tenderfoot" will hold the boards at the Colonial Theatre. This show is said to be one of the best musical comedies of the season and has a remarkably strong cast throughout. The company has 67 people and those who appear in gorgeous costumes. The stage settings are magnificent.

The "Tenderfoot" had an excellent run in Chicago, and made one of the greatest hits ever achieved by a musical comedy in the Wholly City. This is his first appearance in this neighborhood, and he will not visit any of the nearby towns, large crowds will attend from Uniontown and Connellsville. The advance sale of seats has been large, and while a record breaking house cannot be expected, owing to the unusual number of attractions here this week, there will likely be a good house when the curtain rises.

Those who have seen the play in the West pronounce it a winner. The company comes to Connellsville with the original Chicago cast.

RAILROAD STORIES.

Frank H. Spearman's Tales Running in The Courier Now.

The Courier has secured a series of stories by Frank H. Spearman, an author of railroad tales in this country, which Spearman is told. The stories are short, each one complete in two installments. The quality of Spearman's stories are that they are not exaggerated. The writer started at the foot of the railroad ladder and climbed to the top, stopping only after he had the one general in a big west of the road. He has made famous the characters of Backs, Callaghan, Smith, and a score of others; and he has told of the life of the railroad men and their families.

OPPOSE RATE BILL.

Senator Foraker Takes Stand Against President on Hepburn Measure.

SAYS IT'S UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Recommends Elkins Law, Which, With Slight Amendments, Will Answer All Purposes—Rate Regulation Contrary to Spirit of Law.

Washington, March 1.—For three hours Mr. Foraker held the attention of the senate while he read a carefully prepared speech on the railroad rate question. His speech was a protest against any general legislation on the theory that the existing Elkins law could be so extended as to make it answer all the requirements.

He did not fail, however, to point out what he considered the defects of the Hepburn-Doolittle bill and he made the declaration more than once that it would fail to remedy the evils complained of.

Mr. Foraker conceded that some evils exist in connection with the railroads, but urged that all of them could be more effectively met by amending the Elkins law than by passing the bill.

He gave a general review of the history of the railroad development of the country and passed to the evils of the system which he said are necessarily incident to the upbuilding of so vast an interest. His attitude towards the pending railroad rate bill was correctly outlined in his first paragraph, in which he said of the bill, "It is so contrary to the spirit of our institutions and of such drastic and revolutionary character that, if not in its immediate effect, at least as a precedent, the consequences are likely to be most unusual and far-reaching."

He discussed the railroad evils as of three classes, excessive rates, rebates and discriminations. He found little to complain of under the first heading, but said there are some instances of charges that are too high and he thought a prompt and effective remedy should be provided.

A more serious evil he found in rebates, and he traced the present extensive railroad consolidations to the fact that the supreme court decisions against pooling had left the roads without protection from the rebate system except to resort to some general understanding.

Referring to the Elkins law he said: "There has been no serious attempt to enforce this law to prevent discrimination as to localities, but a glance at its provisions will suffice to show that it is as broad, direct, explicit and efficient to remedy that kind of an evil, wherever it may exist, as it has been found to be as to personal discriminations. That the law has been tested in this respect is not due to any fault of the law, but because no one has seen fit to invoke it."

Advocates Court Plan.

Announcing his own position he said: "I believe in the court plan, as contradistinguished from the rate-making plan, not alone because it is much simpler, much more expeditious, much more efficient and without expense to the shipper, but because, in addition to all that, it avails at all legal and constitutional questions, while the rate-making plan as set forth in this bill encounters a number of such questions that are of the most serious character, and some of them, in my judgment, fatal."

Regarding the right of congress to make rates he declared the supreme court had never yet passed on that question and that there are many eminent lawyers who are of the opinion that the court will hold, when it does decide that question, that congress does not have that power.

Must Heed the Constitution.

He was confirmed in this view, he said, by the opinion of the court in the Northern Securities case. He believed that a remark made in reaching the conclusion in that case leaves the question open. He conceded that the different states have the power of rate fixing. "But," he said, "the cases are wholly different. Manifestly it is utterly impossible for congress by statute to fix all the rates for interstate commerce. It must resort to some plan under which it can avail itself of the help of some kind of board, commission, tribunal or agency. But when it undertakes to do this it must take heed lest it undertake to do it in such a way as to delegate legislative authority and thus make its effort unconstitutional and unavailing, for it will be conceded that it is unconstitutional for congress to delegate legislative power."

He pointed out the departure in empowering the interstate commerce commission to decide what shall be reasonable rates, saying: "It is in no way different from the power to confer judicial powers upon the legislative department or to confer legislative powers upon the judicial department or to confer either of these powers upon the executive department."

He laid down the rule of the courts to be "whether or not the party on whom the authority is conferred is entrusted with any discretion to make the law; if so, the statute is unconstitutional. Discretion may be allowed as to its execution, but none as to what the law shall be."

Dear Sir: Lead-and-Off is not good paint; don't wear; the rule is as everyone knows, repaint in three years.

Devoe lasts six in the same way—allow wide margin in all such statements. What does it mean, to last? It means the same to both.

As to covering: that's another. Here's an instance: Mr. J. J. Hall, Shem-Id, Pa., painted two houses, lead-and-off; took 40 gallons.

Last summer bought 40 gallons Devoe for the same two houses; returned 10 gallons.

The paint, that covers, lasts; it's all paint, true paint, and full-measure. Lead-and-off is all paint but not good paint; the lead wants zinc. Better paint Devoe.

While Firemen Fight Incendiary Flames and Soldiers Patrol Streets Small Parties of Disturbers Make Life Miserable for Colored People.

Springfield, O., March 1.—The riot and race war begun here as a result of the shooting of M. M. Davis, a railroad man, by Ladd and Donn, colored, was continued last night, the eight companies of troops called out to assist the local officials in preserving order not being able to prevent the destruction of two houses and the partial demolition of a dozen or more others at the hands of the mob.

Up to midnight no casualties had occurred and the rioting consisted mainly of marching mobs which either set fire to or stoned the homes of negroes. Hundreds of people were in the streets and the excitement continues intense.

The Flicker's Nest, which is inhabited by negroes and which figured in the Dixon mob and subsequent race war two years ago, has been assailed and several attempts made to fire it, but as it is guarded by militiamen the effort has so far failed.

Several alarms have been turned in as a result of the fires started, and every available fireman is at work on the fires now under way. Several negroes who had been chased by the angered whites from the negro quarter of the city, made their way to the city building, which is in charge of the soldiers. Colonel C. S. Ammel of the Fourth regiment arrived here last evening and assumed command of the troops, relieving Captain Keller.

Negro Fires in Bare Feet. Up to 11:30 o'clock the mobs had succeeded in burning two houses and had stoned and partially demolished a dozen others, all being inhabited by negroes. The first place visited was the home of George Miller, at York and Harrison streets. When the assault began from the rear of his house, Miller, in his bare feet and without coat or hat, escaped from his pursuers by going to the city hall, where he found shelter with the troops. Coal oil was applied to his house, which was soon a mass of flames and was quickly destroyed.

From Miller's the mob went to the homes of John Logan and Noah Ingram, a double frame on Fork street, and the match was applied following the escape of the occupants a few minutes before. The militia were in hot pursuit of some of the rioters, and at Central avenue chased them at the point of the bayonet. Even while this was going on, some of the members of the mob were at a safe distance from the soldiers, continued to stone the houses of negroes, windows being rattled by their rocks as they ran.

The house of the Rev. John Seury, a negro preacher, was stoned and the family fled to the street. The mob then set fire to it, but the prompt arrival of the military prevented its destruction. The homes of Reuben Campbell and Charles Elmore, on Central avenue, were stoned with stones, and at this point a boy, whose name is not known, was shot in the leg. The militia have devoted their attention to control of the larger crowds, leaving the police to look after the smaller end of the riot. Promiscuous and random shooting has been a feature and has added to the general terror. Two negro women who jumped from the second stories of their homes, when assailed by the mobs, were seriously hurt, and were taken to the hospital.

No More Troops Will Be Sent. Columbus, O., March 1.—Late last night Adjutant General Hughes received a telephone message from Colonel Ammel, in command of the militia at Springfield, saying he did not believe it would be necessary to send any more troops to Springfield. Colonel Ammel has eight companies under his command, four from Columbus, one each from Urbana and Xenia and the two Springfield companies. Colonel Ammel reported that the shooting indulged in by the mob was largely for the purpose of annoying the soldiers. He said he was confident that the disorderly element could be controlled with the troops at hand.

Dayton, O., March 1.—A dramatic incident in connection with the Springfield riot and the secret removal here of Edward Donn and Preston Ladd to escape the mob was effected last night. Under an order from the officials at Springfield, Deputy Sheriff Lawrence and Detective Long of Springfield arrived here after dark to take the men to Springfield for identification by M. M. Davis, the railroad brakeman, who was reported as dying. They boarded a traction car, but at Medway, a station seven miles from Springfield, were met by a courier, who had been sent to inform them that the coming of the prisoners was anticipated by the mob and that they would certainly be lynched if taken into the city. The officers with their prisoners made a record-breaking run back to Dayton, going the distance of 20 miles in 25 minutes on a special car provided by the traction company.

TUPELO WOOD.

Excellence of the Timber is Becoming Generally Recognized.

Several cuses have of late brought tupelo into more prominence than it formerly enjoyed. The first of these is the general need of utilizing all possible species, which is introducing upon the market various trees which had no standing so long as the better known kinds were freely obtainable. A second is that the tree found in good quantity in mixture of spruce, which is now receiving so much attention from lumbermen, and the coarseness of lumbering spruce are so heavy that it tupelo comes in lumbered with it at a profit this would mean so much added return to the holder of spruce stumpage. The excellence of the wood of tupelo is also in its favor, but heretofore this has been offset by the difficulties encountered in handling the lumber—difficulties which have not been wholly overcome. In this respect tupelo is much like the sale of a large wood, which found a ready market only recently, after special study had shown that right methods of handling obviated certain defects.

Tupelo received its scientific name of Nyssa aquatica, "water gum," because of its ability to thrive in wet situations. Like cypress, it is proof against floods which would kill other species, and its distribution coincides very largely with that of cypress. The best grades of the wood are very similar to that of yellow poplar; they have a fine, uniform texture, are soft and workable, and will take stain well. Such qualities signify a usefulness which makes the wood an important market value if its tendencies to warp, twist or "set" during seasoning can be controlled. Up to the present, however, the requirements of tupelo in seasoning have been but little studied by the manufacturer. It has not received the degree of attention which is due to wood of such adaptability.

When the lumber is piled for drying, much depends upon the proper seasoning of the layers or "courses," to allow the air to circulate. This is secured by inserting cross-sticks, which keep the boards from touching one another. Many woods may be dried with but little care and yet dry straight and sound, but tupelo must be piled evenly and so as to secure straight-dried boards even at the cost of more time and labor. It is a common mistake to use for cross-sticks woods which have been irregularly sawed, so that the boards are not held flat in the courses. The pile will not dry well with this treatment. Furthermore, where the cross-sticks rest on the boards, tupelo is inclined to warp and twist. In drying, care must be brought to practical success, this difficulty also must be overcome.

Kiln drying is, of course, a common method for many species of cypress, but tupelo is not so easily dried in kilns. In fact, it is not so easily dried in kilns as it is in the open air. The reason for this is that the wood is so heavy and so much of it is water, that it is not so easily dried in kilns as it is in the open air. ## CURES WORST CASES OF CATARRH.

A. A. Clark Sells Hyomel Under Guarantee That It Costs Nothing Unless It Cures.

Hyomel cures the worst cases of catarrh simply by breathing the remedy through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. Stomach drugging often causes disordered digestion and never makes a permanent cure of catarrh. Hyomel not only kills the germs in the throat and nose, but penetrates to the minute air cells in the lungs and enters the blood with the oxygen, killing the catarrhal germs in the blood.

The complete Hyomel outfit, consisting of a nebulizer, pocket inhaler and medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomel, costs only $1. If this does not effect a complete cure, extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

A. A. Clark knows of many people who have been cured of catarrh by Hyomel. He believes in it so thoroughly himself that he offers to refund the money in case it does not cure.

Washington, March 1.—Senator Platt of New York has introduced a proposed amendment to the bill which has passed the house, to incorporate the Lake Erie & Ohio Ship canal, which provides that no feeder to supply water shall be connected with or draw water from the Niagara river whose waters fall or may fall, rivers, streams, water courses or reservoirs within the state of New York.

TO AILING WOMEN.

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Connelville. No woman can be too healthy and well body when the kidneys are sick. Kidney past off in the time when the kidneys are well are not in the time when the kidneys are sick. Kidney past off in the time when the kidneys are well are not in the time when the kidneys are sick.

When suffering from the kidneys, the remedy that cures kidney disease is not only the most disagreeable part of housecleaning, but hand-beaten carpets are never more than half cleaned and are depreciated about ten percent, by every hand cleaning. Machine cleaned carpets last longer, look better and are perfectly clean, the nap is raised and a new appearance imparted to the goods.

There is another reason fast coming to the front and that is the 20th century idea of disinfection. Sputum from the sidewalk and filth from the street are transferred to the floor coverings; the dust that arises from the carpets is not only dirt but disease germs, animal and vegetable matter which is injurious to those who breathe it. While there is no danger to the carpet-cleaner who handles these goods, yet, there is to people who live in and breathe the atmosphere laden with it. A hand beating or ordinary machine cleaning will not destroy the germs. Our nonpareil cleaner and our process of disinfection thoroughly cleans the carpets and destroys all disease germs that may be in them. We raise, clean and relay. Give us your carpets and we will do the rest.

EIGHTH STREET, NEW HAVEN, PA.

Will throw its doors open on March 6th, to the good housewives of New Haven, Connelville and vicinity.

Old times are fast changing, the luxuries of yesterday have become the necessities of today. Work that a few years ago was drudgery is now being done and done better by machinery, especially designed for the purpose. This is especially true of carpet cleaning. The most disagreeable part of housecleaning is no longer a drudgery. Very few people in the larger cities or even in the smaller towns where facilities are available do their own carpet cleaning. There are several reasons for it:

First, Carpet cleaning is not only the most disagreeable part of housecleaning, but hand-beaten carpets are never more than half cleaned and are depreciated about ten percent, by every hand cleaning. Machine cleaned carpets last longer, look better and are perfectly clean, the nap is raised and a new appearance imparted to the goods.

A VERY POOR SHOW.

Holly-Toity Is Not in the Ten, Twenty and Thirty Class.

EVERYTHING ABOUT IT WEAK.

Chorus Homely, Without Shapeliness, and the Cast as a Whole Is Without a Redemptive Feature—Audience Left Theatre Last Night.

All we ever said about Holly Toity we retract. Apologies are due readers of The Courier interested in the theatricals. The company that presented Holly Toity at the Colonial Theatre last night is the weakest and most ineptly organized that ever came to this city. They couldn't act, sing, or dance. There wasn't a redeeming feature to the show. Hazel Edna has a voice that would command a crowd of people with any other company but that in which she is unfortunately placed. The rawness of her surroundings protrudes so forcibly that it draws any attention of merit that might be due her. Sara Bernhardt's wonderful magnificence and personality would be dimmed into obscurity by the glaring defects and badness of the Holly Toity Company, if forced to act with it on the stage. The cast at the Colonial last night couldn't even give a passing fair home talent show and Connellsville knows what that is. The only good thing the actors and actresses (beg pardon) did was to cut their lines and stage business. Many got up and left the theatre after the first act. There was not a good house present by any means, but it was far too big for the performance.

The managers of the Cumberland theatre telegraphed the local management Wednesday that the company had packed the theatre there Tuesday evening and gave a good performance. It was a fearful con to hand Manager R. W. Singer.

The chorus is without ability to sing, has no shapeliness and wouldn't take any prizes for beauty. Holly Toity isn't in the ten, twenty and thirty class.

If Weber & Fields only knew what this company is doing to a musical skit made famous by them they would hide their faces in shame. The show was so bad and utterly without redeeming features that it is worthy of charity, so we won't mention any names. The heartfelt sympathy of every person present at the Colonial last night is extended to anyone who happens to attend the West End Theatre, Uniontown, where Holly Toity appears this evening.

Sought Help for Injured Master, Who Died From Neglect.

Sandusky, O., March 1.—Had the dumb pleading of a faithful dog been heeded the life of James Andrews, a young Gibson farmer, might have been saved.

Andrews had been at the home of his brother-in-law and while returning to the home of his brother, with whom he lived he was struck by a Nickel Plate freight train. The dog which accompanied him, on arriving home awakened the family by continued barking, and the brother got up and let the animal into the house. The dog continued to bark, and because M. J. Bond of Jankinsville was shopping in town this morning.

RAILROADS DEFY LAW

Put Up Rates in Kansas, Giving Standard a Monopoly.

Kansas City, March 1.—Representatives of all railroads of Kansas have fixed a new schedule of freight rates in Kansas in defiance of the maximum freight rate law passed by the last Kansas legislature. The schedule agreed on all is an increase of 100 per cent of the present schedule making the new rate about the same as the one in effect before the maximum freight law was passed.

It is said that the action of the Kansas railway traffic officers will affect the independent oil shippers of Kansas more than any of the other patrons of Kansas roads. The Standard Oil company, having a monopoly on oil tanks, it is said, will not suffer from the new schedule of freight rates as will independent oil producers who ship oil in barrels.

Destructive Fire at Gettysburg, Pa.—Fire started last evening in one of the large warehouses of the L. M. Allen Hardware company and for a time the destruction of the eastern end of the town was threatened. The strong west wind carried the fire along and in a short time the three warehouses of the company were in flames and two of them were totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

Lloyd F. Mountain of the Gettysburg school made the address of welcome. It was so droll, witty, bright, humorous, and was attentively listened to by Misses Annie Steyer and Minnie Hartzel.

Devotional exercises were conducted by J. J. Mountain, a school patron. A song by the school and the institute was fairly started for good work.

The evening session opened with instrumental music, A. H. Hartzel organist and G. W. Hinder violinist. The first thing for which the program called was an old-fashioned class drill in spelling by the veteran teacher, C. K. Brooks. This elicited praise, humor and instruction. Misses followed, and then a eulogy on Andrew Jackson, by Miss Blanche Sipe.

Director J. H. Pringle made a short speech on the "Importance of Little Things." This was well received. Harold K. Brooks was then called for an address. He delighted the audience by giving them "On the Birthday of Washington."

Home Ruler told the story of "Our Flag," and "Modern Education" was entertainingly delivered by James V. Mountain. Misses Blanche Pringle and Carrie Steyer recited good selections.

Quizzes, which formed an important part of the exercises, were then taken up. The school patrons and visitors took a lively interest in the brief discussions and proved themselves no mean debaters.

The chairman declared the institute a great success, praised the teachers and the patrons for the part they had taken in the institute and adjourned the next institute to be held at Mill Run, March 4. Program later.

After music the institute adjourned, everyone feeling the better for having been there. S. M. Hartzel, Edward Brooks, a teacher of Dunbar township, came home to be present at the institute.

ability to the fullest extent. That the Colonial Theatre waives Rufus Rastus's will hold the boards, will do a record business, is not questioned by anyone who has seen the attraction.

The plot is on the same line as those generally introduced in musical comedies. It offers complication, funny situations and an abundance of ballet and gaudy. The story itself is plain, it introducing a common type of a negro in the South who strikes luck and finally becomes a prominent figure in the "Coowown" society of the metropolis, but so well is the plot carried out that there is not a moment of dullness from the time of the curtain to the final drop. It will appear at the Colonial Theatre
